Events in the Grison Country, and the Tyrol.

Austrian Official Accounts.
Innsbruck, March 16.

GOV. Court Bissenzen has published the following notice:

"According to accounts this day received the Austrian Troops posted at Martinsbruck (over the Grisons), under the command of Colonel Knesewick, were attacked by the Enemy on the 12th inst. with 5000 men. The battle lasted till night, when the Enemy notwithstanding all their exertions, were obliged to retire to the Heights of Schleims with considerable loss. On the 15th, the same Colonel was again repeatedly attacked, but of these attacks we as yet know not the issue.

[Another Letter, same date.]

"The Enemy, after the conquest of the Grisons, advanced in great force towards Upper and Lower Engadin. Our Troops have been obliged to retreat from Gelfez and Sultz, towards St. Maria; they were too weak to oppose the Enemy, pressing them on every side."

"At Martinsbruck, however, the extreme pass towards the Tyrol, there was an action on the 14th, in which the Austrians were engaged eight hours; and notwithstanding the French were 5000 strong, and we had only one battalion, they were obliged to retreat. The levy of the Peasants is conducted by General Laudon. News of a battle in this quarter is hourly expected."

Official account from Tyrol.

The Vienna Court Gazette, of the 23d ult. contains the following Official Bulletin:

According to the accounts of the 15th of March, General Laudon then occupied the post near Bormio, by which the communication was kept up with the valley of Engadin. The brave militia in Tyrol is every where in motion, shews the best disposition, and support every where the Imperial Royal Army, so gallantly fighting for their country. On the 16th, according to later accounts, General Laudon was attacked on the said post of Bormio; and though the attack was several times beat off, and always renewed with more violence, yet the French could not carry that post on that day; but when they advanced again on the 17th with superior numbers, they succeeded in repulsing our people from it. The force of the French, who penetrated into the valley of Engadin, is estimated at two whole divisions. This circumstance induced Field Marshal Lieutenant General Bellegarde to let part of the corps of reserve of his army enter the district of Winteboden to be prepared at all events.

Official Bulletin from Innsbruck, March 19.

"According to official reports received this afternoon, the French division of General Lecoeur which enter Engadin, as far as Martinsbruck, has been taken in flank and rear, in consequence of an attack skillfully contrived and executed on the 15th by Brigadier General Laudon, by which means the French General Mainoni, several Staff and superior officers, and some hundred prisoners fell into his hands. This attack caused the enemy's attempting to break through in great force near Martinsbruck, and supported by some armed Engadins, they wanted to turn General Knesewick, who commanded the defile of Novallafing.

"The peculiar bravery of the Imperial Royal Troops, and the defenders of Tyrol, who hastened to the spot, animated with the same courage, frustrated the plan of the enemy. The enemy on the 17th at half past five in the morning, attacked General Alcam, in his position at Martinsbruck, with impetuosity, and superior number, from all sides and repeated their attacks till eleven o'clock with the utmost obstinacy; but they were every where repulsed with great loss, and one captain two lieutenants, and eighteen privates were made prisoners. The enemy also detached a column of 600 men, at the same time, down Novallafing, between Finirtumunz and Nauders, with the design of taking the position of Martinsbruck in the rear; but they were kept off by a division of the Regiment of the Grand Duke of Tuscany, and completely routed, and immediately pursued by a company of Tyrolian marksmen. On the enemy's retreat to Spitzberg, a picket of Waraldines took 347 prisoners. The Imperial troops have done prodigies of valor in the engagements that have hitherto taken place; and the Tyrolian defenders have also laudably co-operated. The retreat of the above mentioned 600 French troops was so precipitately effected, that, throwing away their musquetry, they took flight over the mountain of Stitsberg, and left the prisoners already mentioned in the hands of the Imperialists.

Events in Swabia.

On the 20th of March the Austrian army commanded by the Archduke Charles and the French army under Jourdan, were engaged. A part of each army was on the two sides of the Danube. Jourdan intended to have commenced the attack on the 21st; but a deserter from him having apprized the Archduke of his intention, he profited by the information and gave the first blow. General Jourdan had two horses shot under him. Gen. Lefevre was wounded, and the killed and wounded were numerous. The left wing of the French army, which was their whole force on one side of the Danube was compelled to retreat about 40 miles. The right wing of the French army, at the same time drove the Austrians. A few days afterwards the left wing recovered some of its ground; but the result of these actions left the French several miles removed from positions they had held: and waiting reinforcements, ere they attempted to advance. Jourdan complained that his army was inferior to the Archduke's in numbers; which is tantamount to a confession that the French Army must be superior in numbers to conquer.

ELECTIONS IN FRANCE.

Paris, April 1.

The proceedings of the primary assemblies must prove very formidable to the views of the Directory, as the elections have, in most places, fallen upon persons distinguished for their strenuous opposition to the measures of the executive government. The partisans of the Directory have been defeated in the departments of the Doube, the Pais de Calais, the Somme, and the North. The public mind appears to be greatly irritated against the Government, and the letter of the minister of the interior to the electors of Aix, was openly treated as the production of an incendiary. The oppositionists enjoyed a signal triumph in the primary assemblies of the city of Tours, as the electors returned by them are all persons who had been dismissed from their places by the Directory.

London, April 10.

Paul I. has written the following letter to Marshal Suwarow, announcing his nomination to the chief command of the Army of Italy:—

"The Emperor of the Romans requires you to command the Army of Italy. I add my prayers to his solicitation. Set off: you will have under your command one hundred thousand Austrians, and forty thousand Russians."

RENCH ELECTIONEERING.

London, May 10.

The last Paris papers very naturally turn the Public curiosity to the issue of Elections, which they acknowledge to have turned out, almost universally, in opposition to the wishes of the Government. Indeed it is scarcely possible to indulge in a political speculation of more general importance to Europe, or more pregnant of events, by which the fate of the Directory or the Councils must soon be decided.

Herodotus informs us, that it was a fundamental law of the Constitution, under the ancient Monarchy of Egypt, that upon each demise of the Crown the kingdom should remain for the space of one year without a government. It was doubtless intended that the experience of Anarchy, (which is nothing more nor less than the empire and impunity of crimes) should attach the people by a negative example to the Laws, the Sovereign and the administration of good and virtuous Citizens. In France, this extraordinary practice seems literally inverted; and it is only for a few days in the year at the period of the elections, that the voice of Liberty and a Constitution is permitted to be heard; as if it required the annual sacrifice of the men, in any shape dear or faithful to their country, to deter, through the rest of the year, any attempt to shake off the yoke of tyranny; any future struggle to obtain the execution of the laws, or the termination of the crimes and anarchy that prevail in their name.

When one observes the struggles that are every where making through the departments, against the usurpation of the Directory, when we consider that the principal part of the Electors returned are the very individuals so arbitrarily deposed by them—and when we recollect that whenever the Election has transfused into the Legislative Assemblies a predominant, or even a dangerous portion of integrity, it has been doomed to perish by the canon of Vendemiaire, or to banishment upon the torrid sands, and under vertical fens of Cuiana, we cannot but anticipate the fate of these new Deputies, the last of the French.

For surely it is impossible to suspect, from any experience of the past, or combination of the future, that the present Government of France will respect the liberty of Elections, and permit their own usurpation to be replaced by any just or legal constitution, by name, either Royalist or Republican, Regicides and Usurpers, and Traitors allied to the lawful monarchy, and constitutions reflected upon its elders, are they not preparing the death or exile of every Deputy returned, of whom they suspect either Loyalty or Freedom to be the principle or the guide? In what Department have we seen a return without one of these passports to destruction affixed to it? Here we are told they elected Royalists, and there Anarchists; and in some places the Primary Assemblies have separated, and made double returns. The first probably of one of those devoted classes, and the second of the other.—At Paris and Lyons, the hustings have been deserted. The presence of Barras, and the memory of Collot d'Herbois, very naturally operate the same effects; and we are forced, in spite of the natural desire of seeing a termination of tyranny, or even a change of tyrants, to congratulate these two great cities in having preferred the best of their inhabitants for some more promising occasion, some happier prospect, than to swell the number of exiles, or mix their blood with the martyrs already immolated by the Directory—or the Army.

While the part of the Republic is contented to remain the instrument of the tyrants, or even the spectator of the miseries of their country, we can force nothing but unprofitable struggles, and eternal proscriptions. Have we forgotten that Pichegru had a majority and that the majority was banished and expelled? or have we never heard that the 18th of Fructidor was the Counter-Revolution of the Committee of Public Safety, and the colleagues of Robespierre?

PARIS, APRIL 2.
Bulletin of the Primary Assemblies.

It appears that in the South, the opening of the Primary Assemblies has been almost every where followed by political convulsions.

On the day preceding the opening of the Assembly at Montpellier, there were found written round the column of Liberty the following inscriptions:

The first contained these words:—People, rise; break thy chains on the skulls of those who have forged them. The second—Thou sleepest Brutus, and Rome is in fetters. The third—Kiss the hand that oppresses thee.

At Perpignan there were violent disturbances, and the Municipal Commissary was insulted. At Gignac, Mont & Marfou, at Graille, Brignoles, Urde, violent commotions, and double returns. At Perigueux, the Municipal Officers deposed by the Directory were reinstated. Throughout the whole Department of Dordogne the electors determined to return the same persons to the Legislative Body, whom the Directory rejected last year.

At Bourdeaux, the Members of the Central Bureau, lately displaced by the Directory, have been nominated Electors.

At Toulouse, the Anarchists have met with no resistance; and in several Cantons of the Lower Seine they have been equally triumphant.

The Paris papers report that Gen. Suwarow, on arriving at Vienna, issued the following order to his Aids de Camp.

"One hour to put things in readiness, and another for setting off. George shall go with me in my carriage, the other three shall go in sledges. George shall go to the banker's, Thomas, for a loan of 25 thousand rubles, for the expenses of the journey. Quick—make haste, for I go not on matters of pleasure, but for serious business. If I have sung bards like a church warden here—I shall howl like a tyger in Italy."

ALARM.

THIS war has produced so many prodigies of crime, not before recorded in the history of nations, and such dreadful examples of perfidy, corruption and treachery, as ought to make all governments to fear and tremble for their existence. But nothing has happened, to excite more just alarm and apprehension, than the unparalleled defection of the Neapolitan army and nobility.

The King of Naples was a mild, beneficent and patriotic Prince; from a view to the happiness of his subjects, however mistaken, he had studied to preserve a good understanding even with the insolent upstart tyrants of France, until he discovered that nothing would turn them from their real design to revolutionize his country, and to make it the seat of war and rapine—but he seems not to have discovered their machinations early enough. By the time he was prepared to defend himself, the poison of French gold, and French principles had seized on the very vitals of his kingdom: his counselors, his army, and his nobility were all corrupted.

He took the field with a large and well appointed military force, under the command of a gallant and experienced officer; but notwithstanding a short gleam of success at first, he was forced, in a few weeks, to fly from domestic treachery to the British fleet, to avoid being massacred, or given up to the hands of his ferocious enemies. Their projects against his person failing on land, they had formed the hellish plot to blow him up in one of his own ships of war. This horrid scheme of corruption and treachery, of murder and pillage, had been nursed and matured so secretly, that he had hardly time enough to escape its explosion:—a day, perhaps an hour, longer stay on shore, and he would either have lost his life, or been presented in chains to one of the under-devils of the French directory.

What a lesson is this to all the governments, which by the protection of providence do yet exist!—Can any thing prove more strongly the necessity to scrutinize every department of Office, civil and military, but especially the latter?—to bring every man, as far as possible, to the ordeal, and where there is the smallest reason to suspect a collusion with the enemy, or a strong disposition to favor him, instantly to cashier the guilty person. No connection, no friendship, no consideration whatever, should screen the man, to whom the smallest suspicion is attached. But what shall we think, when there are many notorious characters, fattening in public offices, at this awful crisis, who are unworthy of the smallest public trust even in times of profound peace.

Hear then, ye guardians of the public welfare!—Ye watchmen on the walls of our Zion!—and thou, great and much respected Chief! hear the voice of wisdom, speaking from the tombs of martyred monarchies and republics:

"PURGE YOUR COUNTRY, but especially all its public offices, BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE, OF DOMESTIC TRAITORS."

COMMUNICATION.

MR. TENNO,

It must give the highest satisfaction to the citizens of Philadelphia and its connections, to learn that the quarantine is performed by the ships of war and other vessels off the Lazaretto with the utmost punctuality; and every regulation of the board of health, promptly and cheerfully attended unto, much to the honour of the masters and owners. Captain Deane, of the United States sloop of war Delaware, arriving from a long and fatiguing cruise, under the expectation of the immediate welcome of his family and friends, finding the health law in operation, readily sacrificed his own feelings to the public convenience, and performed quarantine with such particular attention as must ever raise him high in the esteem of the public. Every thing, the ballast not excepted, was carefully washed, and the ship on her coming up to the city at the expiration of the quarantine, was perhaps the most clean vessel of war that ever entered a port. It is hoped that such exemplary conduct will ever be followed by vessels under quarantine. These being attended to, and all nuisances removed from the city and its vicinity, under God we hope, that our city will escape that awful scourge, which lately rendered Philadelphia and other cities in the United States, a scene of horror, and filled every house with lamentation and woe.

PHILANTHROPOS.

IN a Paris Journal of the 12th March, appears discolored in positive terms, the motive to peace with this country on the part of France. As the war is growing general and the aspect of their affairs becoming more and more serious, they begin to think that in a multitude of enemies there is danger, and to "feel the necessity" of shewing a "certain degree" of condescension towards neutral powers. Thus, then, is at length disclosed, the secret so long and with so much jealousy concealed, that the enmity of America is of some consequence to the Great Nation. The ridicule she had heaped on our early efforts—her fulsome, gaudy display of her victories and her resources, had really made an impression on weak minds; and men have been found ready to say, "It is vain to resist the omnipotence of the French republic." The delusion is past, and it is proved, that we can maintain our independence and our liberties even against the Great Nation. She confesses herself, that our enmity has something troublesome in it, and could she reverse habits to which she has been inured by long practice, would perhaps from the mere principle of selfishness, again enter into the bands of fraternity with us. It is the point of time, however, on which her apprehensions respecting us depend, and an opposition to her all-grasping rapacity, which might now be effectual; too long delayed, would excite only her ridicule and her contempt. God grant that we be not deceived!

Extract of a letter from Surinam, 8th January, 1799.

"The first eight that were landed at Sinamary, are reduced to two, Murinais, Trougon, Bourdon, La Villeharnois, Rovère, Brothier are dead; Pichegru and Barthelemi, have escaped. Barbé Marbois and Lafond Ladebat have survived and resisted the dreadful contagion. Both have been very sick, and have anxiously solicited for a trial—Out of 308, who were last landed, more than half have died in less than five months, all the remainder are exceedingly indisposed, details of their situation, would shock the feelings of the most inhuman."

A letter from Cape Francois, dated May 11, received by a gentleman of this city, concludes with the following important and pleasing article:

"Just as I was closing this letter a vessel has arrived from Hamburg, in a short passage, bringing accounts of the French Gen. Jourdan having been totally defeated by the army of the Arch Duke Charles."

From a London paper.

A woman dressed in deep mourning waited yesterday afternoon at the Garden-gate, St. James's in the anxious expectation, when their Majesties stepped into their carriages, of presenting a petition; but being prevented by the officers on guard from approaching near enough, she retired to some distance from the place, and as the coach passed had the resolution to throw it into the window; it falling into the Princess Elizabeth's lap, her royal highness gave it to the Queen—the poor woman appeared quite overjoyed to think that she had been so successful, from the narrative she told, it appeared that she lost her husband, who had been a warrant officer on board the Queen, in the West-Indies; one of her sons, a lieutenant, was murdered by the crew of the Hermione; and another had fallen in action while serving on board the Leviathan—that she was entirely destitute, and had no other means of gaining relief than imploring the goodness of their majesties to alleviate her sufferings, by deigning to notice the prayer of her petition.

London, April 7.

The renewal of hostilities on the Rhine appears to have given increased vigour to the insurrection in Belgium. According to letters from Antwerp, on the 23d ult. the whole of the Campine was again in arms and the revolt had assumed so formidable an aspect as to occasion the return of some corps of French troops which had left Brussels, Mechlin, &c. to join the army on the Rhine.

The American ship Washington, of Boston, Cunningham, master, was lately attacked by a French privateer, in the Straights of Gibraltar. After an action of 30 minutes, the Frenchman attempted to board, but failing in the attempt, was obliged to sheer off with considerable loss.

An article from Rastadt, dated March 25, says, the Prussian Minister insists on the French evacuating the Right Bank of the Rhine; that the troops of Wurtemberg, Bamberg, and Hesse Darmstadt, in pay of the Emperor, had joined the Austrian army; and that, tho' the Austrian and other ministers were about to depart, those of France, Hanover and Saxony had intimated that they would continue.

TRIAL OF FRIES.

William W. Woodward takes the liberty of informing the citizens of the United States and those of this state, that he has been requested by the Counsel to suspend the publication of the first trial of John Fries, until that of the second takes place. Respectfully presents his Acknowledgment to those Gentlemen who have been pleased to subscribe to his prospectus for a Paper, CURRENT in this City: It having now been suggested to him, that a DAILY EVENING ADVERTISER with the MARINE NEWS, a PRICE-CURRENT, &c. on the following Plan, will be more likely to meet general Encouragement—

On the following conditions:

IT will be printed on four pages, large quarto; it will once a week at least, every Monday, and oftener as occasion may require, contain the Prices Current of this city, with the Duties on each article; the Prices Current of the different States; with those of Europe and the West-Indies, as far as they can be obtained accurate; also the Prices of Stocks, Cattle of Exchange, &c. &c. with a regular account of Port Entries inward and outward, and the Marine Intelligence, foreign and domestic.

The price to subscribers within the city and liberties, to whom it will be delivered at their houses, will be Three Dollars the Year, one and an half dollar to be paid at the expiration of three months, and the remainder at the end of the year: To subscribers at a greater distance, to whom it will be sent agreeable to their directions, the price will be Four Dollars the Year, two to be paid at the time of subscribing, and two at the end of the year.

The utility of a paper to this city on the foregoing plan, properly conducted, must appear obvious to every one; and it is surely unnecessary to say any thing of the great advantage it must have in the Advertising Line, being particularly calculated to serve the interests of trade and business, and of course from the nature of it, as well as from its low terms, must command general circulation.

THE work will be printed on a fine paper, and a new neat type, in large octavo.

Each volume will contain above 500 pages,
nearly bound and lettered.

Uniformity in size, paper, and binding, will be observed throughout the work; so that, while the subscriber becomes possessed of a valuable record,
an ornament may be added to his library.

The price to subscribers will be a dollar, 75 cts.
per volume, in boards, and 3 dollars, whole bound;
but, as the publisher does not intend to print many more than the number subscribed for, a considerable rise on the price may be expected to non-subscribers.

Each volume will contain about one third less of letter-press than the original edition; but, as the publisher is not yet enabled to determine the extent of the Private Journals, which he may be allowed to make public, he cannot ascertain the number of volumes which will comprise the work.

Payments to be made on delivery of each volume.

Subscribers will have at their option, either to subscribe for the whole of the Journals, up to the present time, or to those only of the Old Congress
prior to the organization of the Federal Government.

IN all countries, the proceedings in the commencement of their governments, are lost in darkness and of security, owing to a carelessness, in the succeeding generation, to preserve the public records, and the attention of the nation, in those rude
ages, being called off from their domestic concerns, to engage in wars and conquest. Of what infinite value would the laws of Alfred be, had they been transmitted to our days? Time, that destroys every thing, enhances the value of well authenticated public records, and renders them almost inestimable. It is hoped, that Americans will, therefore, cheerfully contribute their assistance in transmitting to posterity the labours of their ancestors—
founders of the Columbian nation.

The work will certainly be advanced with expedition and promptitude. The following will show the support it has already acquired.

Philadelphia, June 15, 1798.
To the Honorable the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States.

THE MEMORIAL of the Subscribers, Citizens,
&c. of Philadelphia,

Respectfully sheweth,
That having, in our respective avocations,
frequent occasions to recur to the Journals of Congress, we experience inconvenience by the scarcity of them: That we understand that Richard Folwell, printer, of Philadelphia, has had it in contemplation to print that public record; and that he has obtained partial countenance from many individuals; but that he has delayed prosecuting
the work, in expectation of encouragement
from government, that may adequately indemnify him.

We, therefore, respectfully solicit, as the publication is necessary to be disseminated among public bodies, that Congress will, in their wisdom, render him such additional encouragement, so that which he has obtained from private individuals, as to enable him to proceed with the work, to that your Memorials may be enabled to purchase copies of that record for themselves.

G. SHAW,
Respectfully informs the public, he has received

ROBERT JOHNSTON,
Apothecary, No. 20, Green street, Soho, London, a fresh and very considerable supply
of his highly esteemed Medicine.

AWARE of the deprecations made on every public medicine of established repute and extensive sale, R. Johnston, obtained the King of England's Patent for his invention, not "to recommend" but "to distinguish," Whitehead's Essence of Mustard from

SPURIOUS IMITATIONS.
"Five years have now elapsed since Mr.
Johnston first made known to the world this very extraordinary medicine; during this short period, its efficacy has been so clearly demonstrated that its sale has far exceeded any former example; comparatively there are few families in England or the United States which have not either heard of or experienced its beneficial effects and with heartfelt satisfaction he had the happiness to declare Whitehead's Essence of Mustard has cured more persons afflicted with Rheumatism, Gout, Lumbago, Palsy, Complaints of the Stomach and other Painful Maladies.

Than all the Medicines ever before made public, indeed, the instances of its efficacy and letters of acknowledgment from "the most respectable characters" are so numerous that a large volume could not possibly contain them;
it has also obtained the approbation of the most eminent men of the faculty and is honoured by the use and recommendation of the first families
in England, Ireland and America.

A COUNTERFEIT.
R. JOHNSTON has reason to believe a large quantity under the name of "Improved Essence of Mustard," as well as many others, has been shipped for America, and considers it his duty to prevent imposition and disappointment.

He therefore requests the afflicted to be particular in the purchase of his bottles, labels, boxes, and bill of directions which are closely copied, and words "by royal authority," artfully substituted for the words "by the king's patent"
which may elude common observation.

The Genuine is distinguished by the signature of R. Johnston, in his own hand writing on each label, and as an additional security is further signed on the outside wrapper by his only agent for the United States, G. SHAW, No.
120 Chestnut street, Philadelphia, by whom it is sold wholesale and retail, in pills and in a fluid
state at one dollar each, box or bottle

FOR CHILBLAINS, SPRAINS AND BRUISES.
It is a certain and effectual remedy, seldom requiring more than three or four applications.
To the candid and liberal of the FACULTY,
R. Johnston respectfully submits the following observations. The Fluid Essence of Mustard, is an embrocation worthy their particular attention, it differs in its nature from all others, and is out of the beaten track of general practice—
It is an active stimulant, easily controuled, may be either increased or diminished in its strength
by the different methods of use, it is both elegant and convenient and is frequently found in the extemporaneous prescriptions of their brethren in England.

The above Genuine Medicine, as well as many others of the first celebrity may be had by appointment of G. Shaw, of Mr. G. Bailey, Wilmington, Dr. Barrill, Maiden Lane, New-York, Messrs. Bailey and Walker, Charleston, William Back, Salem, (N. J.) Charles Hu-nitch, Lancaster, A. C. Jordan, Norfolk, John Roberts, do. David Keen, Sweet Springs, Virginia, R. Lees Baltimore, I. & J. Menz, Fredericktown, Maryland, G. W. Mancini, Alaba-

ford & Son, do. Messrs. Rofs & Douglas, Pittsburg, John Webster, Wilmington, James Wilson, do. Richard Winter & Co. Savannah, and N.B. The public are desired to enquire for Whitehead's Essence of Mustard, all others being a base and spurious imitation.

11th day of June, one thousand seven hundred and ninety six, entitled "an act regulating the grants of land appropriated for military services, and for the society of United Brethren for propagating the gospel among the heathen;" and the act supplementary to the said recited act passed on the second day of March, one thousand seven hundred and nin-

ed during the late war, are required to present the same to the Register of the Treasury, at some time prior to the twelfth day of February in the year, one thousand eight hundred, for the purpose of being registered; No registry will however be made of any less quantity than a quarter township, or four thousand acres.

III.
The priority of location of the warrants which may be presented and registered in manner afore-

ately after the said day, be determined by lot, in the mode prescribed by the act first recited.

All warrants or claims for lands on account of military services, which shall not be registered and located before the first day of January, 1802, are by the supplementary act of Congress herein before recited, passed on the second day of March, 1799, declared to be forever barred.
